ALL PREVIOUS GINNING RECORDS ARE BROKEN

AMOUNT GINNED TO NOVEMBER 13th EXCEEDS PREVIOUS RECORD NEARLY 1,500,000 BALES.

A BIG GAIN IN GEORGIA

2,103,979 Bales Ginned In That State. Total in United States is 11,269,986 Bales.

By Associated Press

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21.—In no previous year has so much cotton been ginned to the same date in November as shown by today's census bureau report of 11,269,986 bales. This is almost a million and a half bales more than was ginned to that date in the record year of 1904. The feature of today's report was Georgia's figures showing 2,103,979 bales ginned in that state, which is more than was ever grown before in that state. Every state except Oklahoma and Mississippi show a greater amount of cotton ginned than during the past two years.

While the totals are larger it is significant that the amounts ginned between November 1 and 14 this year were not so large as the amounts ginned last year during the corresponding period.

By Associated Press

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21.—The Census Bureau's fifth cotton ginning report of the season, issued at 10 a. m., today and showing the number of running bales, counting round as half bales, of cotton of the growth of 1911 ginned prior to November 13, with comparative statistics to the corresponding date for the past three years, is as follows

United States—11,269,986 bales, compared with 8,780,433 bales last year, when 75.9 per cent of the entire crop was ginned prior to Nov. 14; 8,112,199 bales in 1909, when 80.5 per cent was ginned and 9,595,809 bales in 1908, when 73.3 per cent was ginned.

The number of round tables included were 76,011, compared with 93,361 bales last year, 123,757 bales in 1909 and 173,988 bales in 1908

The number of bales of Sea Island cotton included were 71,199 compared with 52,631 bales last year, 68,495 bales in 1909, and 56,701 bales in 1908. The distribution of Sea Island cotton by states was as follows

MANY HUNTING PARTIES FROM WICHITA FALLS

The almost ideal weather which has prevailed here for the last several days has infused the hunting spirit into many of the local sportsmen, and nearly every day, parties leave the city bound for points where the game is reported to be plentiful. Even if nothing is bagged on the trip, the pleasure of being in the open air in this kind of weather is considered by most of those who go as sufficient compensation for all the trouble of such a trip.

Among those who left today for an outing was an auto party composed of W. M. McGregor, Milton Irving, Judge C. R. Pebler, Dr. S. H. Burnside, and Fred Harrington. The party left the city this morning bound for points in Archer county, and will remain on the trip for several days, probably until the end of this week. They are expected to bring back a large amount of game, as birds are reported to be more numerous in this direction from town than in any other way.

Y.M.C.A CLOSING RULE HAS BEEN MODIFIED

On account of the inconvenience caused to some of the members of the Y. M. C. A. by the strict enforcement of the rule of closing the doors of the association promptly at eight o'clock each night during the progress of the Ham revival meeting, it has been decided by the management of the local organization to allow the freedom of the building to members until 9.30 o'clock on three nights of the week during the further duration of the revival meeting, after the end of which the doors will again be open to both members and visitors as formerly. The nights chosen on which to open the Y. M. C. A. during the Ham revival meeting were Tuesdays, Fridays and Saturdays, and from now on, members will have a chance to enjoy the benefits of the Y. M. C. A. until after 9.30 on each of these nights, except Saturdays, when in order to give the business men and others a chance for a shower bath and plunge, the doors will remain open until after ten o'clock.

The decision to close the doors of the Y. M. C. A. during the Ham revival meeting was placed into effect several weeks ago, so that members might be given a chance to attend church at night, but many complaints were heard from those whose duties compelled them to work until late at night, and who were in the habit of dropping into the Y. M. C. A. for a few moments relaxation before returning to their homes, and it was deemed best to give these members this privilege, and accordingly, the rule was modified as above stated.

NEGRO CHILD FATALLY BURNED YESTERDAY

Before assistance reached her she was so badly burned that she died at about midnight last night. The funeral was held from St. Johns Baptist Church this afternoon.

REFORM SHOULD BE NON-PARTISAN

CURRENCY AND BANKING REFORM SHOULD BE KEPT OUT OF POLITICS.

PRESIDENT WATTS SPEAKS

Head of American Bankers Association Says That No Party Principle Is Involved.

New Orleans, Nov. 21.—If the proposed plan for the reform of the currency and banking system of the United States be kept non-partisan, its enactment into law will be an easy accomplishment. And it could be kept a non-partisan issue, if the 1,000 bankers here would work zealously to that end upon their return home.

So declared F. O. Watts, President of the American Banker's Association, in addressing the convention of its members here today. Mr. Watts strayed, he said, from the beaten path of precedent, to discuss the theme which has been made the keynote of the convention proceedings.

"Surely there is no good reason why the question should become a partisan one," he said. "There is no party principle involved in such a co-operative agency and nothing but prejudice or the extremity for an issue, which certainly does not exist in this day, could cause either of the two great political parties to treat the subject differently from what they should proposals for good health or pure food or river improvements, or the building of a great canal. If by any chance it drifts unavoidably by the bankers and business men into a partisan alignment, the only hope of making it an effective issue to the party opposing the plan would be in its ability to appeal to prejudice through talk of centralization and control by special interest. Neither proposition could be maintained before the thoughtful citizenship of this country, and when the light of reason entered, the party making such an appeal would suffer as such parties have always suffered in the past.

"We can show that instead of being centralization the proposal is decentralization, the power coming to the central agency for all banks in just such a way as the power is placed in the Chief Executive of the nation. The President becomes the composite of American ideas, and when not so there occurs a shifting of authority. So the Central Reserve Association would always be the composite of the shareholding banks, and, therefore, standing for the best in our business life.

"The Currency Commission and officers of your Association have been in a number of conferences with the Chairman and members of the National Monetary Commission, and those having the responsibility of forming a plan showed remarkable willingness to hear and adopt any suggestion tending to keep the control away from speculative marts, keep it apart from political control or prevent its being at any time a political issue, keep the investments of a character that would make any [illegible] of little value compared to such an outlay as necessary to acquire it.

"Those expressing a fear on the question of control seem to deal only in generalities instead of giving some good reasons for the belief that any selfish interest would seek control, or that if sought it could be attained. The plan expressly prohibits the holding of shares by any individual or other than banking corporations, so that direct stock control is forever impossible, and, therefore, to get even indirect control it would be necessary for such interests to purchase control of the majority of the shares of more than twinty thousand independent banks of the country. The use of such a stupendous sum as necessary is highly impractical. The suggestion appears foolish to those analyzing the situation and to be a serious reflection on the good sense of those in mind when special control is mentioned.

"Undoubtedly those interests which according to passing speech and harangue composition are designated as 'Wall Street' favor the National Reserve Association or any plan of monetary reform making for stability and prosperity and relieving the best bankers of New York from the great strain of crop movements, trade expansion and panics. Passing the relatively small number of stock gamblers around New York's Stock Exchange, we find there bank, business houses, industrial and railway corporations vitally interested in every section of the country and who have been, in what one aptly expressed during the year in saying that his institution and allied interests 'makes dollars out of the general prosperity of the country where they could make only pennies out of special privilege.' The real Wall Street prefers prosperity to special privilege, and knows that they serve themselves most when building up the commercial, manufacturing, agricultural, transportation and banking interests of the whole country."

TABERNACLE WILL BE OPENED TONIGHT

Gas Men Worked Until Midnight Laying Pipe in New Auditorium

Yes, tell them there will be services at the tabernacle tonight, said Evangelist Ham when seen at the site today noon. There is a large force at work getting the building ready for the service tonight. The gas men worked until 12 o'clock last night piping the building so it can be heated and the electricians are busy today wiring the building.

The street force of the city worked on the building yesterday afternoon, an experience that came rather as a surprise to many of the prisoners.

Committees of the ladies are this afternoon engaged in the work of canvassing the entire city and taking the religious census, a work similar to that done throughout Texas last February. It is to be hoped that they will not experience so great a difficulty in accomplishing the task this time as they did the last. Many people who do not understand the nature of the work have sometimes turned a cold shoulder to the workers and they have been unable to gain a hearing or greeting that have sometimes been refused the information desired.

The revival campaign will be launched anew tonight and with greatly increased vigor the battle will be pushed to the last ditch in an effort to reach and help the unsaved of the city.

GRIM TALES OF THE TAR PARTY

EVIDENCE GIVEN IN TRIAL OF KANSAS OUTRAGE CASES CAUSES HUSH TO FALL.

STORY OF BARBARITY

Laborer Calmly Tells of the Tarring of Pretty Woman School Teacher.

By Associated Press

Lincoln Center, Kas., Nov. 21.—In the tar party trial the testimony of Edward Ricord a barber who led Mary Chamberlain, the school teacher to the rendezvous, has caused a hush to fall upon the corner conclaves in which the tar party previously had been discussed in the light of a joke. The grim tales given in evidence have created more serious views. Ricord was under cross-examination today. He said the conspirators planned that Miss Chamberlain should go driving with him and be found in a compromising position.

While the young victim listened calmly, Chester Anderson, a laborer, Monday related to a jury the story of how ten men, including himself, dragged Miss Mary Chamberlain, a school teacher, from a buggy and poured warm tar on her naked body.

Anderson said that he had never heard any gossip besmirching the character of Miss Chamberlain. He told how the tarring was planned and of the masks various men wore.

Anderson said he arranged with Edward Rivord, a barber, to take the girl for a buggy ride so that she might be captured by the men, and told of going back to Clark's mill to notify the gang.

Ricord took the witness stand just before court adjourned for the day and corroborated Anderson's story of how Miss Chamberlain was decoyed by him and of how they were held up and the girl was tarred.

The night of the tarring Anderson and Delbert Kindlesparger drove to the scene in a buggy, while the other men went on motorcycles. When he got to the scene of the tarring Anderson said he laughed, for there stood Everett Clark, a wealthy miller of Beverly, his head covered with a gunny sack, through which holes for his eyes and mouth had been poked, adding that by Clark's side was Jay Fitzwater, his head covered with a mill bag.

When Miss Chamberlain and Ricord came along, Anderson said, that he and Kindelsparger stopped out into the road and pointed toy pistols at them and halted the party. Two other men wearing masks took the school teacher out of the buggy and Ricord got out and hid. Another man held the tar can.

Anderson said two of the men were Everett Clark and Fitzwater. The third one he did not know. After the tar had been rubbed on, Miss Chamberlain was helped into her clothes. With tar dripping from her, she got into the buggy and drove away with Ricord.

Alfa Lindermuth, one of Anderson's companions, corroborated the testimony. He said he took no part in the tarring, merely hiding behind a fence to "see the fun."

A huge crowd filled Judge Grover's court room almost to suffocation. The judge told the deputies to be careful that no minors were admitted.

Edward Rickord in the tar party trial, testified that on the ride to the scene of the tarring he made two advances in the buggy to Miss Chamberlain which she repulsed.

Miss Chamberlain took the stand late this afternon and began her story.

DIRECTORS OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEET

The directors of the Chamber of Commerce at their regular weekly session this morning voted to continue the industrial committee until they could submit a definite report in writing to the directors regarding the purchase of a fund for an industrial site addition.

The committee informally reported this morning that it had received an oral proposition for a site of 900 acres immediately southwest of the city and 250 acres on the north side of the river and west of the Fort Worth and Denver tracks. Owing to the absence of Mr. Kell, manager of the traction company from the city they had been unable to learn whether the company would extend its tracks through either of these sites and if so under what conditions.

The committee which comprises R. E. Huff, C. W. Bean, J. L. Jackson and F. B. Marlow was given further time for receiving propositions in writing from land owners and to confer with the officers of the traction company.

Little business was transacted at the meeting of the directors this morning. The manufactories committee reported unfavorably on the proposition submitted by Mr. Graham for the establishment of a sewer pipe and stove foundry here. A proposition from a novelty glass manufacturing company in which a site and bonus was asked was referred to that committee. Frank Kell, chairman of a special committee reported that Mr. McSweeney had failed to comply with the requirements of the Chamber of Commerce regarding his packing house proposition within the time limit designated and that the committee had ended negotiations with him. Their action was ratified.

REYES' TRIAL IN APRIL

Manifestos Bearing His Name Called Upon Mexican People and Army to Revolt.

By Associated Press

San Antonio, Texas, Nov. 21.—Copies of three manifestos calling upon the Mexican army and Mexican people to revolt and signed in print with the name General Bernardo Reyes, were today placed in the hands of H. A. Thompson, chief of the secret service here. He will lay them before the United States district attorney. These manifestos were brought by a courier from Mexican consul Lozano, at Laredo.

All manifestos are dated at Soledad the State of Tamaulipas Mexico which state was believed to be the one most likely to rise in insurrection first. The full texts of the manifestos have not yet been made public but the general nature of their contents have been divulged. Soldiers and officers are called on to quiet their allegiance to the persent government which is cahracterized as impertious, unjust and usurped. The soldiers are told that revolutionary leaders have been placed over the regulars and that in every possible way President Madero has shown his distrust of the men who stood by the falling government of Diaz. It is understood that promises are made of reforms in the army and greater pay to those enlisting in the new cause. The people are told that if the Reyista government succeeds they will have a chance to vote for their own candidates and not have candidates thrust on them.

The secret service men are trying to discover where these manifestos were printed.

House Committe Recommends Changes in Election Laws

Austin, Texas, Nov. 21.—The report embodying suggestions of the prohibition majority of the late house investigation committee as to needed amendments for the State's election laws has been received. There is not with it the bill which the committee intended to draft to cover needed amendments, but the pro majority suggests that the entire system of election laws of the State needs revision because of its cumbersome phrases and defects and that in time it will be able to submit simplified election laws.

This report, signed by Representatives Nickells of Hill, Nichols of Hunt, Cureton, Rowell, Brown of Tarrant, and Hunt of Randall is a much milder report than that of the pro majority of the senate. It condemns no one. In its findings of fact it merely gives different excerpts from the testimony adduced before it with regard to that provision demanding an investigation of charges of the unlawful use of money before the legislature. It merely quotes the so-called Sam Levy letters with the explanation given with regard to them by Chairman J. F. Wolters of the late anti-prohibition organization.

The majority files with its report as exhibits copies of the Oregon corrupt practice act, the penal provisions of the election laws of Nebraska, the New York corrupt practice act, penal provisions of Wisconsin election laws, crimes against the election franchise in Montana, Federal laws for publicity of campaign funds of interstate committees after the election, the Nebraska publicity of campaign funds law and extracts from the democratic campaign book of 1910. The recommendations follow.

Poll tax receipts should be issued only at a regular and established office of the tax collector in charge of the tax collection in person, or some regular deputy, who has qualified by written oath, and given bond and whose appointment and qualification has been approved by the commissioners court or by some official or officials whose duty it may be to approve such bonds. The law should be amended so as to exclude poll tax collectors and traveling tax collectors.

There should be but one place to pay poll taxes in any town and a regular office should be established wherever poll taxes are issued.

No person should be permitted to pay the poll tax of another except where such other person is personally without the country or physically unable to go to the collector's office. In this event the person paying the tax should have power of attorney, stating in full the reasons why the tax payer can not pay his tax in person.

The suggestion that the duplicate poll tax arrangement should be used, a duplicate copy of the poll tax to go to the election office with the signature of the holder submitted of worthy of consideration. Publicity of poll tax lists within ten day within payment closes is recommended also, ample prevention for challenging illegal receipts and speedy disposition of such cases by the courts.

Challenged Ballots

It is suggested that a separate box should be kept for disposition of challenged ballots on election day and provision made for challenging ballots and that before challenged ballots are counted it should first be determined whether or not there is election without counting them. If not, challenged ballots should have their validity established in the courts and the result declared by law. The right of contesting elections however should not be denied.

The suggestion that an election officer should read and mark the ballot of the illiterate voter in the presence of all election officers is given worthy consideration. Short and simple ballots are urged.

For intimidation severe penalties are recommended. It is suggested intimidation should be defined; that landlords and employers should not use position or authority, that parades and displays of any character should be limited or prohibited on election day or six hours before opening of the polls. Electioneering should be defined and activity or workers, their names should be posted conspicuously with the name of the person or cause for whom they work; that severe penalty should be provided for workers compensated before or after the election.

Exemption Certificates.

Exemption certificates should be issued only once, unless lost or destroyed.

Provision should be made for reports of political parties or factions at the polls, also for the challenging of voters by any citizen.

The passage of a law forfeiting the office of anyone for whom there has been cast one or more fraudulent vote. Whether or not such fraudulent votes affect final result of the election is suggestion if it be found that such fraud was brought about by the candidate or with his knowledge.

"The present electio laws are cumbersome, hard to find and difficult to understand; the entire law should be rewritten, systematized and simplified."

A. & M. SPECIAL TO COME HERE

EXHIBITION TRAIN OF AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE WILL BE IN WICHITA FALLS, DEC. 11.

ON TOUR OF THE KATY

Lectures and Demonstrations on Agricultural Subjects, Domestic Science and Good Roads.

The Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas special agricultural train, covering the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway system will be in Wichita Falls December 11. The special will come to Wichita Falls after a tour of the Texas Central lines and will arrive here at 5.40 p. m., on the night of December 10 and will leave at ten o'clock the next morning for Henrietta and points east.

The train will start its tour at Houston on December 4 and will finish at Greenville on December 15th.

The operation of trains of this character are of great benefit to the people, but they are not always easy to secure. One reason is that the anti-pass law of the State has some bearing on the question. In this instance the railroad commission has ruled that the college will have to pay something for the diner and the sleeper that are used for the trip, and to satisfy the requirements of the law the college has agreed to reimburse the railroad company of the service in the amount of five dollars. The Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway Company will furnish the train completely equipped, consisting of an auto car and flat car for the accommodation of live stock; a passenger car with seats removed for the agricultural exhibits, a special passenger car for the good roads exhibits, three lecture cars, a dining car and a Pullman.

The personnel of the party will be as follows:

C. M. Evans, superintendent agricultural extension department Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas.

Robert J. Potts, associate professor of highway engineering.

B. Youngblood, director of Texas experiment stations.

Delicious Gingerbread

(Recipe by Mrs. Mary J. Lincoln)

Children are great lovers of gingerbread, and grown folks too, if it is the rich, "melt-in-your-mouth" kind. Here is something the children can eat freely without fear of "tummy-ache."

Mix two cups flour, one-half level teaspoon salt, one level teaspoon soda, one level tablespoon ginger, stir in one cup molasses, two tablespoons softened Cottolene and one-half cup boiling water. Bake in shallow pan. Fit for the best cake in layers. Fill with whipped cream, flavored with lemon.

Cottolene makes light, rich pastry that digests easily.

CONFIDENCE.

We Back Up Our Statements With Our Personal Reputation and Money.

We are so positive that we can relieve constipation no matter how chronic it may be, that we offer to furnish the medicine free of all cost if we fail.

We think that it is worse than useless to attempt to cure constipation with cathartic drugs. Cathartics may do much harm. They may cause a reaction, irritate and weaken the bowels, and make constipation more chronic.

Constipation is often accompanied and may be caused by weakness of the nerves and muscles of the large intestine or colon. To expect a cure you must therefore tone up and strengthen those parts and restore them to healthier activity.

The discovery of the active principle of our remedy involved the labor of skillful research chemists. This remedy produces results such as are expected from the best of the best known intestinal tonics, and it is particularly prompt in its results.

We want you to try Rexall Orderlies on our guarantee. They are exceedingly pleasant to take and are ideal for children. They apparently act directly on the nerves and muscles of the bowels, having, it would seem, a neutral action on other organs or glands. They do not purge or cause inconvenience. If they do not positively cure chronic or habitual constipation and thus relieve the myriads of associate or dependent chronic ailments, your money will be refunded. Try Rexall Orderlies at our risk. Three sizes of packages, 10, 25 and 50 cents. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store. O. F. Marchman Drug Store.

Held Without Bail.

Frederick, Okla., Nov. 18.—In the preliminary hearing of Albert Parks and Irwin Parks, charged with being implicated in the murder of T. A. Phillips, a traveling salesman of Honey Grove, Texas, held before county judge S. C. Campbell, Parks was held without bail, while his brother, Irwin was released. The evidence was circumstantial. An immense crowd attended the hearing. Phillips was killed Nov. 7 when the bullet which ended his life was intended for Marshal Weaver. Judge S. M. Cunningham of Lawton, assisted in the prosecution.

"Danny" Dunn, a former newsboy is pretty sure of retaining his present job as mayor of Willimantic, Conn. Mayor Dunn is a Democrat but he appears to be very popular with the Republicans as well. When the Republican city convention met the other day it named fifty candidates to run for mayor, and all declined the nomination. The convention adjourned without nominating an opponent to Mayor Dunn.

ONLY TEN CASES OF TYPHOID AT ELECTRA

F. D. Woodruff, real estate dealer and prominent citizen of Electra, called at The Times office this morning to protest against the report printed in The Times to the effect that there are now about 30 to 40 cases of typhoid fever at Electra.

Mr. Woodruff says that according to reports from physicians there are but ten cases at Electra. There have been only five deaths from typhoid fever cases that originated at Electra. Three of these were brought to Wichita Falls and died at the sanitarium, and two occurred at Electra. Mr. Woodruff also says that water is being piped to Electra from springs located on Red River, and there is a general clean-up move on in his town. There has been no let up in the development of the oil field, except that caused by the late freeze.

Two more deep wells are expected to be brought in today, and the daily production of the field is about 12,000 barrels.

Nehemiah D. Sperry, who has just died at his home in New Haven, Conn., was the oldest member of the national house of representatives at the time of his retirement a year ago.

505 UNION MARKET 505

Wichita Falls, Texas, Nov 21 1911

Mr Edgar P Haney of Henrietta has suspended the publication of the Searchlight in that town and has moved his plant to this city and will soon begin the publication of a weekly paper The Times extendes to Mr Haney a hearty welcome to Wichita

According to an article in Collier's Weekly, the people in poor old prohibition Kansas have become so prosperous that it has brought on a craze for banks and now every little hamlet of 300 or 400 inhabitants wants and must have one or more banks Some counties have on an average one bank for every 300 families and nearly every farmer has become a stockholder in 'our bank' In fact, the creation of banks seemingly has become a burden to the State of Kansas and a law has been made to regulate the issuance of charters, and it is now up to the authorities of the State to decide the matter as to just how many banks each and every community is entitled to The comptroller of the currency at Washington, without any such law as that enacted in Kansas at his back, has turned down over 200 applications for national bank charters in the past year But if nothing worse than the banking craze" is affecting Kansas, she will get along all right

A few weeks ago the Times contained an editorial containing some very severe strictures and rather scathing denunciations of District Judge Thomas L Blanton of Abilene, Texas, (although his name was not used in the article) criticising him for his action in making an order of court prohibiting the publicaton of the evidence in certain criminal cases in which two prominent business men of the county were convicted of the crime of statutory rape The article was written immediately after reading several severe roasts in Oklahoma papers in all of which the judge was taken severely to task, and the Times concluded that their statements were true as a matter of course Since the publication of the article we have been furnished with a complete copy of the judgment in the case, together with the order of court in question, and have received a courteous letter from Judge Blanton in which the true status of the matter is set before us The Times was too hasty in its criticism and denunciation and we are quick to acknowledge it It appears that the case against the defendants was one of those sensational crimes wherein the publication of salacious scandalous nauseating details would have had a prejudicial effect on the minds of the people of the community and prevented them from securing a fair minded jury In addition there are several large girls schools in Abilene and if the details had been published they would have undoubtedly been read by a large number of these students to their unquestioned detriment. Judge Blanton should have been commended for his action in this phase of the matter, instead of being condemned In fact, since reading the judgment and order of court the opinion of the Times in the matter has been entirely reversed and we publish this retraction and explanation in order to repair so far as is possible any damage we may have done and to restore Judge Blanton to good favor in the eyes of any who have read the former editorial, and formed a wrong opinion concerning him And we trust this explanation will fully serve its purpose—Altus (Okla) Times

WILL ROOSEVELT COME BACK?

For some time past it has been frequent with newspaper paragraphers to inquire in one form or another What has become of Theodore with implication being that he had fallen from public notice and his influence from his one time position of power in the affairs of the nation

Public addresses he has not been making and his weekly observation in The Outlook have been attracting no more than casual attention

But now he has in a measure answered the paragraphic inquiries and in addition set the tongues of political gossip going as they have not done since the days when he ceased being the great American maker of news

It was all done by an editorial in The Outlook in which he characterized the anti trust policy of Taft's administration as chaotic and insisted that it should be replaced by something radically different Thereupon has arisen the pertinent question "Will he come back into national Republican politics to champion the policy of something different Taft he charges in effect has made a failure of handling the problem of big business Why therefore is it not reasonable to suppose that the ex president who has so vigorously pointed out the failure will in addition offer himself to point out the way to success? That's how runs the gossip.

The ex president describes the failure as follows The attempt to meet the whole problem not by administrative governmental action but by a succession of lawsuits is hopeless from the standpoint of working out a permanently satisfactory solution Moreover, the results sought to be achieved are achieved only in extremely insufficient and fragmentary measure by breaking up all big corporations whether they behaved well or ill into a number of little corporations which, it is perfectly certain will be largely and perhaps altogether under the same control

The better plan which he submits is that of the establishment of an administrative commission to supervise all corporations engaged in interstate commerce and to control them even to the fixing of the prices of their products if that should be necessary

It can not be gainsaid that there is much virtue in this plan if as now seems will be the case, the total effect of the enforcement of the Sherman anti-trust law will be to dissolve of rending combinations, yet allow them to be reassembled in a technically but not essentially different from—a form wherein monopoly is still enthroned and competition crushed

Such a course of action is like running around in a circle—it gets no where

Nor can it be doubted that there is something the matter with the Sherman law either in its provisions or in the enforcement that has so far been accorded it It does not produce the results

It may well be concluded that American statesmanship has still before it the task of evolving a workable plan of controlling the great industrial combinations before a proper balance can be kept between justice to the people on the one hand and the business growth of the country on the other—Atlanta Georgian

When President Taft said I love the judges I love the courts They are my ideal on earth and I pray that we shall meet afterward in heaven under a just God did he have in mind the supreme court of the United States that decided the Sherman anti-trust law to mean every combination of capital or did he have in mind the supreme court of the United States that decided the Sherman law to mean only those restraints that the judges may regard as reasonable? Did he have in mind a court like the federal court presided over by Judge Sanborn which decides that the states have practically no power to regulate railroad rates or a federal court like the one presided over by Judge Warren in which he rides quite the opposite When the federal courts exhibit such remarkable differences of opinion as to what constitutes justice what kind of courts does President Taft have in mind when he says 'the judges whom we shall afterward meet in heaven under a just God'—La Follette Magazine

Just at this time a great deal is being said about the initiative referendum and recall—particularly the latter in connection with the recall of judges The State of Oregon has had the recall now for three years and but one instance is yet recorded where an attempt has been made to recall a judge This occurred a few weeks ago and was aimed at a judge who had charged a jury in a murder trial in a way that nothing but a verdict of acquittal could be returned A movement for his recall was started but hardly got any further than that The recallers failed to get the necessary 25 per cent of the voters to sign the petition Therefore those who imagine the recall is such a bad thing and contend that it is an easy matter to get 25 per cent of the voters to sign a recall petition in the case of judges will have another thing coming to them. The people as a rule are not going to abuse a privilege such as the recall merely for the sake of putting some man out of office a considerable number of whom might have opposed his election in the first instance and if the man elected conducts himself half decently there is not much danger of his being recalled

When it comes to the evils growing out of high prices a striking illustration can be found in the price Gov Ross had to pay for the office he holds in Massachusetts He paid $18 8 8 for an office that pays only $8000 to say nothing of the energy and the sleepless nights he spent—Dallas News

But he got the office Some candidates for the same office in Texas have paid more than half that amount just for the privilege of getting snowed

Every effort heretofore put forth to reduce cotton acreage in Texas in order that the supply would not be greater than the demand has always resulted in an increased acreage

To one who does not realize that Thanksgiving is almost here it is only necessary for that person to wander around to the Union Station about the time of the arrival of the Valley and Northwestern trains in the morning Crate after crate of turkeys are unloaded here every day and it seems that the supply is so plentiful in Oklahoma that prices have been forced to such a low ebb that it is necessary to ship the birds to this city in order that any profit can be made on them

News From the Oil Fields

Producers' Waggoner No. 9 was drilled into the 1900 foot sand at Electra Saturday afternoon and according to advices reaching here today is producing at the rate of more than 1,000 barrels per day. Waggoner No. 8 was also drilled into the 1900 foot sand Saturday and is a good well, although not as a strong a producer as No. 9. These wells are the furthest southeast of the wells in the deep sand in the field and their completion is the most important development in the field since the Benson well was drilled in on the Douglas tract several weeks ago. From these recent developments in the field it seems that both the shallow and the deep sands extend over a far greater area than was believed a few months ago and make the Electra field one of the most promising in the country.

After having once been blown down by a high wind the derrick owned by Price and Robbins at Crowell, in Foard county has been completed and it is expected that drilling will start this week. J. G. Witherspoon has been elected president of a local oil company there. The money to sink the well was raised through the sale of lots in a deep well addition to the town.

NEW METHOD FOR MAKING DIAMONDS IS DISCOVERED

By Associated Press.

Berlin, Nov. 21.—A new method of making diamonds is said to have been discovered by Dr. Wener Von Bolten, chemical expert with the Siems-Halske Laboratory here. The process is based on decomposition of lighting gas by a mercury amalgama whereby the carbon in the gas is crystallized into diamonds. As these diamonds are extremely minute small bits of diamond dust are introduced into the apparatus, where they serve as mother crystals upon which large diamonds are gradually built up.

The process is still in the experimental stage and the diamonds are small, but it is believed possible that Dr. Von Bolten's discovery may result in the solution of the problem of manufacturing diamonds artificially.

SCHOOL BOARD MET LAST NIGHT

A meeting of the board of trustees of the public schools was held last night at the High School building, and some current business was transacted although all of the business on hand was not disposed of.

The board authorized the appointment of a new janitor for the High School building to take the place of the man who recently resigned, after which the order for the purchase of the new domestic science department was approved. The board next discussed the advisability of purchasing new single seats to take the place of the old double ones at the Austin school house, it being finally decided to order the new seats. Other business which was to have been discussed last night was postponed until the next meeting in order that all of the members of the board might be given a chance to cast a vote.

The meeeting last night was attended by only five of the members of the board, two turstees being absent. J. L. Downing and L. C. Hinkley were the men who did not attend.

Sewing Class Starts at High School

This morning at the high schol building, a beginning was made towards installing the new Domestic Science department when a class in sewing began work under the instruction of Miss Etta Alider, the Domestic Science teacher. About twenty-five girls compose this class, many of whom were members of the higher grades of the high school. The Domestic Science equipment is expected to arrive before long, when the department will be opened up fully prepared to handle this feature of the course of study at the high school

Alma Where Do You Live?

An advance notice says: One sign of the advance which has been made by American managers and libretists may be found in Joe Weber's production of "Alma, Where Do You Live?" which will be at the Wichita Theatre Thursday night, November 23.

Here is a farce originally done in Paris, then turned into a German version for the Berlin audiences, and then brought to the German Theatre in New York City. Here it proved the sensation of two seasons ago. But this was on account of the wonderfully pleasing music of Jean Briquet. All went to hear it. Then it became known that there was much in the book to cause criticism. This was so much so that the attention of Mayor Gaynor of New York was called to it. And here's where the advance of the Americans came in. Mr. Weber, in the face of all this opposition, took the American rights of the piece and had it rendered into a book with which even the most captious could not find fault.

The first thing that Mr. Weber did was to order all of the original numbers of Jean Briquet returned to the score. There is naught but purity in music and this action helped the final result. The play ran a whole season at his theatre and that without the slightest objection on the part of any one. The original and catchy songs, the positive charm of the music, all have been retained. And the book is as dainty as the music.

George V. Hobart, the prolific American comedy writer, was engaged by Mr. Weber to make the English version. The success he made of it was phenomenal. He went back to the original French story and paid little attention to the Germanisms an intermediate betonate. It was for this reason that the sluggishness of the German "Alma" is entirely omitted. Hobart's natural American wit combined with the Frenchiness of the original proved the most entertaining bit of work presented to New York theatregoers in some time.

The excellent company which will make Mr. Weber's presentation here is headed by Nannette Flack, with Chas. A. Murray and Maitland Davies, the clever brother of the brilliant critic of the New York Sun, Acton Davies, prominent in the cast. Others are Chas. Walton, Edwin Carewe, Henry Sherwood, Pickering Brown, J. Herbert Crowley, Vivian Gill, Mary Croft and Bee Hamilton.

The farce begins in the morning. It is the usual "night before" which starts the trouble. Theobald Martin and his prospective son-in-law, Gaston Duval, arrive at home and find domestic wrath awaiting them. Their adventures have included a meeting with Mlle. Alma, once the fiancee of Gaston. Presently Alma appears and complicates things for the returned prodigals. An unexpected happening, however, reconciles her presence to the women of the household.

An eccentric millionaire relative of the Martins leaves his fortune to his adopted son, Pierre le Peach, on condition that he shall not fall in love with or propose to any woman before he comes of age, which event is to happen on the morrow. In the event of Pierre's surrender to some siren Theobald and Gaston are to divide the fortune between them. They immediately suggest that Mlle. Alma shall win a proposal of marriage from the young heir presumptive. It is not an easy task for the youth makes his appearance singing melodious warning against womankind. These his benefactor had instilled in him.

Moreover, Mlle. Alma is an idealist as well as a Parisian milliner. She determines to save the lad's fortune for him, despite the conspiring pair. And then she falls in love with this farce comedy Parsifal, who is all innocence. And finally she wins the fortune and its possessor for herself.

MADAM SHERRY CLEVER, SPICY AND ENTERTAINING

Without doubt the best pleased audience of the season left Wichita Theatre last night after the performance of Madam Sherry. Madam Sherry is a musical comedy, with real music and sure-enough comedy, and from the raising of the curtain on the first act to the down letting in the last, it is clever, spicy and entertaining.

With one or two exceptions the cast of the company here last night was good, and well adapted to the play. The story of the piece deals with a family mixup, the result of an uncle's visit to his nephew whom he thinks is a married man with grown up children. Entering unexpected, the nephew to substantiate the stories to the uncle, introduces his housekeeper as his wife. [illegible] a convent who falls in love with her cousin. All these complications make opportunity for lots of clever comedy with a rythm of music of the dance and song, "There Little Movement Has a Mean Of Its Own" running through the piece.

Miss Ada Meade as Yvonne Sherry, the convent girl, has the leading role, and she is splendid. She has a beautifully sweet voice a graceful, charming stage presence and is a very clever dancer. Mrs. Vera Virginia Houston as the hen-chaser, and the adopted "Madam Sherry" was also decidedly clever and divided with the star the honor of the evening. Miss Houston sings high brown songs and gets dialect rag time with equal ability and is besides a really funny comedienne.

Tom Nichols as Leonard Gomez through a secondary part has away the best male voice and is withal a clever actor. Phil H. Riley, as the uncle, is a good comedian, one that makes you laugh because he's funny, and though he is no singer, he made a great hit with a topical song, "We're Only Poor Weak Mortals."

The chorus was also good last night and the scenery, especially in the last act was splendid.

HOW ONE WOMAN WON

Her Health and Strength Back Again by The Use of Cardui.

Tampa, Fla.—In a letter from this city, Mrs. E. C. Conn writes: "I was all weakened and worn out with woman's troubles. My husband brought me some Cardui to take, and from the first day it seemed to help.

I had almost lost my reason, but, thanks to Cardui, I did not. Soon, I felt and looked like a new woman. I think the remedy is wonderful. I recommend it to my friends, for I have received great benefit from it."

Cardui acts specifically on the weakened womanly organs, strengthening the muscles and nerves, and building them up to health.

It helps to refresh the worn-out nervous system and relieve the effects of overwork, both mental and physical.

Fifty years' success has fully proven the merit of this purely vegetable, tonic remedy for women.

In every community, there are those who have been helped by Cardui.

The beneficial effects of this tried woman's remedy, soon show themselves in a different way. Try it.

Danger in Overstimulating Young

(Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin)

The entrance of his 13-year-old son into Harvard University as an advanced student has called wide attention to the theory of Professor Borla Sidis, under which the unusually forward youth has been reared, that the energy children ordinarily devote to play should be turned to account for the promotion of their intellectual development.

Here are propositions formulated by Professor Sidis to serve as maxims for parents and teachers:

We must begin the child's training between the ages of two and three not fearing brain fag and kindred bugaboos.

Discuss abstract matters with the child from the first, teaching him to think. He should be able to conduct his own education by the time he is seven years old.

At the age of nine he should be as familiar with the ordinary branches of mathematics as the college entrant.

At 12 he should be ready for the regular college course. He should complete this in two years.

He should be doing a man's work before he is 20.

The same amount of mental energy used in those silly games thought specially adapted for the childish mind can be directed to the development of his interests, intellectual activity and love of knowledge.

Being in a barbaric stage, we are afraid of thought. We are under the erroneous belief that early thinking and study cause nervousness and mental disorders.

President Guy Potter Benton of the University of Vermont, takes a very different view. Here are sentences selected from an article condemning hothouse methods in education which appears with his signature in the New York American.

Educational infanticide is a wicked crime against the child and against civilization.

Man is an infant until he reaches the age of twenty-five years.

Prematurity hinders the preparation for large usefulness.

A young man should not be ready to take up his life work until he is twenty-seven years old.

Children should be encouraged to play until they are twenty-five.

A child taught too early dies an old man twenty-five years before he ought.

The age limit of efficiency is extending itself; from fifty years at the beginning of the century it is now near sixty-five.

This is not, as is often said, the age of the young man. It is the age of the prepared man.

It is better to start in one's lifework too late than too early.

The longer the period of infancy is protracted the more efficient your man will be.

Elaborating on the main branch of his theme, President Benton observes:

The effect of child labor is familiar to every one. It may be seen most frequently in European cities. The streets are full of queer little figures with preternaturally grave faces, old before their time. They are men when they should be playing around in some one's back yard. When they should be men, a few years later, they are most often mental and physical wrecks.

It is the same way with too early and too strenuous brain work. The child can do it all right, just as the child laborer can tend the machine or pick the slate from the coal, or drive the mule team in the coal mine.

But the effect is sure to make itself felt. And ten or twenty years later, when the mind should be at its best, the "hothouse" child is a mental wreck and good for nothing.

The discussion thus epitomized is not new. Like many other problems in education and life the problem of how far it is wise to push instruction in the early years of childhood has been constantly recurring in different ages of the world. There were advocates of the forcing method in the United States before the Civil War, and also there were those who condemned it at that time. Among the latter was the late Dr. Josiah Gilbert Holland, who, living when polemics were considered not out of place in novels, developed his opinions through the medium of a story, entitled, "Miss Gilbert's Career." It was a readable story and conveyed an instructive lesson. The lesson that to encourage intellectual precocity in children is detrimental should hardly need repeating at this late day.

Why is it that in the business and public life of America the great successes most frequently are achieved by men who grew up in the country instead of by men who were city bred? Surely it is not because country schools are superior to city schools. At twenty the average city boy is more efficient intellectually than the average country boy of the same age; but at thirty the country boy is likely to have forged ahead. It is because his physical system has been built up by air and exercise and because his brain was not forced to go to work too soon. The country boy usually accumulates a reserve of nervous energy, while the city boy, overstimulated on the intellectual side, is unprovided with that resource and therefore failed to break down under the strain which competition in business and the professions and politics puts upon those who essay an active part in the affairs of the world. Indisputably there are exceptions to the rule, but there are few rules without exceptions. Parents and teachers should be governed in this matter by general principles and not risk the future of their charges by overstimulating them in their tender years.

Donations for the Rummage Sale, to be given by the ladies of the Christian church, on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week may be sent to the building, corner Eighth and Ohio, opposite the post office, at any time. 163-3tc

ELECTRA OIL FIELD

$10.00 EACH

The Powell Oil and Development Company owns in fee simple 311 acres of land situated about three miles south, 65 degrees east from the Electra Oil Fields. This company is putting 87 acres of this land on the market for the purpose of developing holdings.

The land is a part of the H. & G. N. R. R. Survey of land located in Wichita County, Texas, Survey No. 21, Abstract No. 142.

Oil men of experience consider holdings as being in the heart of the oil bearing territory for the reason that the geological survey marked by the government shows that the oil strata runs northwest and southeast from the town of Electra.

The first oil we encountered is about three and a half miles southeast from our holdings. This 87 acres of land is near enough the millions to afford charging facilities. It is also within one mile of a two hundred acre tract bought by the Fordyce Oil Company for tankage purposes.

OUR PLAN.

The [illegible] of lots as shown by plat on file with the county clerk of Wichita County. Each lot contains 900 square feet. The purchaser of each lot is entitled to one share of capital stock of the company, when same is finally organized. When one half of the lots are sold we will at once begin operations on a deep well to be put down to a depth of 2,000 feet, unless oil or gas in paying quantities is found at a less depth, and when well is completed it will be turned over to the stockholders to be managed by a Board of Directors. 100 lots in the center of the field will be reserved for the deep well. The price of these lots is $10 each in hand.

A man can no more change his reputation than he can change his face or his arms, said Senator La Follette at a banquet in Madison. There was once a wicked old Madison millionaire, who took his pastor aside and said: "I'm going to retire, Doctor Thirdly. I am going to devote the remainder of my life to doing good." Doctor Thirdly, an outspoken man, retorted: "Do you mean John H. Good, the wealthy farmer or young Sam Good, the Socialist millionaire?"—Exchange.

Among the qualifications of a cabinet minister discretion ranks high. Lord Broughton notes in his diary a fracas between Lady Holland and Lord John Russell. "If you must know," said Lord John Russell, "because no man will act in a cabinet with a person whose wife opens all his letters."—Exchange.

Bunn Hehn, one of the fattest men Cincinnati ever produced, was at the ball game one afternoon when all the seats in the grandstand were taken. He took his stand back of the last row, presenting to those who walked along the passageway behind him a vast expanse of black coat and trousers. After a little while, Bunn was annoyed by feeling somebody butt in to him. Looking around he saw that he had been hit by a boy who was carrying a tray full of ginger ale bottles and peanuts. "Scuse me, sir," said the boy to the irate giant, "I thought you wuz de entrance."—Exchange.

She was a lady visitor to the prison, kindly and well meaning, and as she chattered with a burglar who had been sentenced to six months imprisonment she thought she detected signs of reform in him. A little color from the Potero—so a genial friend informs the San Francisco Chronicle. Far out on the very edge of town is a little schoolhouse the first and second grades of which are commanded by a pretty little normal school graduate. Her pupils are all sons and daughters of the former sort of impulsive foreigners and have all reached a state of adoration for their queen and vie with each other in ways to please her. One day she had dwelt especially upon loving and caring for dumb animals. The next day little Pietro remained in his seat when his schoolmates dropped out to play. Teacher was busy at her desk and did not notice him until she felt a little fist tugging at her sleeve. "Why, Pietro," she exclaimed, "what is the trouble?" "Nothing, teacher. I just wanted to tell you how I was good to dumb animals yesterday," he promptly replied. "Why, isn't that nice, Pietro! Just what did you do?" Pietro drew himself up to his full three feet and proudly asserted: "I kissed the cat."

There are at present seventeen prisoners confined in the new county jail, most of whom were arrested charged with minor offenses such as drunkenness, street fights, etc. All of these prisoners were recently moved from their cells in the old jail to quarters in the new structure, where they not only have more room, but are confined in more convenient quarters. Fallon Hawkins expects to move his family from the old building to the new in the near future.

$10.00—Reward—$10.00

We want every family in Wichita Falls to test our fresh roasted coffee, and see the difference between it and goods roasted out of town. We know that one pound means repeat orders, and are willing to pay something for that first order. ¶ Have hit upon the following plan—Commencing Wednesday, November 15th until December 1st we will take orders for a special blend at 35c per pound. This coffee to be roasted by us and delivered the same day it is roasted. Each pound purchased entitles the purchaser to submit a name for this particular blend and we will pay the party who submits the most appropriate name (which we will adopt for this blend) the sum of Ten Dollars. ¶ We are to be the sole judge, but the Ten Dollars will be paid to someone who submits a name for the coffee. The coffee will be delivered and award made as soon as possible after December 1st.—which will be within the first five days of the month. ¶ Our solicitors will make a canvas of the city but that no one may miss the opportunity we will accept telephone and mail orders and orders may be left at the store. Now we promise you will get more than full value for your 35c and in addition you get a chance at the $10.00. If the coffee don't make good we are the loser as we are staking our reputation as roasters on this deal. All coffee sold by us under the name adopted will be exactly like the first pound. As these orders will be small will expect to collect on delivery.
